

License

What Licence do I need?

For any unlicensed use of a font, be sure to read the Product Usage Agreement. For information about how a licensed font can be used, please read the EULA for licensed software.

If you are planning to use a font in any for-profit context (advertising, logos, slogans, on products etc.) you will need the license offered on this site. It includes the full font, all styles and a commercial license. It's a one-time fee and the license does not expire.

You can use the font for free in contexts that are non-commercial and personal, for example student projects, your own wedding, on your personal Facebook account or on a Youtube channel that is not monetized.
